WHAT IS BODY PIERCING?

The most popular pierced body parts seem to be the ears, the nostrils, and the belly button.

- body piercing is exactly that — a piercing or puncture made in your body by a needle. After that, a piece of jewelry is inserted into the puncture.

HOW IS A PIERCING DONE

- The area you've chosen to be pierced (except for the tongue) is cleaned with a germicidal soap (a soap that kills disease-causing bacteria and microorganisms).

- Your skin is then punctured with a very sharp, clean needle.

- The piece of jewelry, which has already been sterilized, is attached to the area.

- The person performing the piercing disposes of the needle in a special container so that there is no risk of the needle or blood touching someone else.

- The pierced area is cleaned.

- The person performing the piercing checks and adjusts the jewelry.

RISKS

- Certain sites on the body can cause more problems than others — infection is a common complication of mouth and nose piercings because of the millions of bacteria that live in those areas. Tongue piercings can damage teeth over time. And tongue, cheek, and lip piercings can cause gum problems.

People with certain types of heart disease might have a higher risk of developing a heart infection after body piercing. If you have a medical problem such as allergies, diabetes, skin disorders, a condition that affects your immune system, or a bleeding disorder — or if you are pregnant — ask your doctor about any special concerns or precautions you should take beforehand. Also, it's not a good idea to get a body piercing if you're prone to getting keloids (an overgrowth of scar tissue in the area of the wound).

IMPORTANT

WHAT YOU SHOULD SEE BEFORE GETTING A PIERCING

KEEP
ASK QUESTIONS

- Ask questions and make sure:
- The shop is clean.
- the person doing the piercing washes his or her hands with a germicidal soap.
- the person doing the piercing wears fresh disposable gloves (like those worn at a doctor's office)

- the person doing the piercing uses sterilized. instruments or instruments that are thrown away after use.
- the person doing the piercing does not use a piercing gun(they're not sterile).
- the needle being used is new and is being used for the first time.

- the needle is disposed of in a special sealed container after the piercing.
- there are procedures for the proper handling and disposal of waste (like needles or gauze with blood on them).

If you think the shop isn't clean enough, if all your questions aren't answered, or if you feel in any way uncomfortable, go somewhere else to get your piercing.
